

Annie Johnson

Age: 26 Type of Cancer: Hodgkin's Lymphoma (in remission as of 3/2008)

"I never thought I would be diagnosed with cancer at the age of 23," says Annie, who fought Hodgkin's lymphoma for two and a half years. "It brought a harsh perspective to life – that's for sure." Annie was deemed terminal with just a few months to live in 2007, but between her doctor who fought for her, lifestyle changes, and her faith in Christ, she made it through and is now in remission. She got her little yorkie, Sampson, as a gift last year. "He lifted my spirits on days when I was so sick, I thought the world was going to end," says Annie, "My friends used to stash him in a big purse so he could come visit me in the hospital. How great is that!"

The American Cancer Society presents: "Snapshot of Survival"
Photo sponsored by: Avera Cancer Institute, Photography by: Jael Trieb, Brookings