

Mindy looked to her husband, John, as a wonderful support system for both her and their children despite the many fears and concerns of cancer. "Allow your family and friends to care for you. It helps you and makes them feel better too," she suggested. As a survivor, she participates in the race because it is such a positive experience and it's wonderful to see so many survivors and their loved ones gathered together.

Mindy Lafflin

SURVIVOR SINCE 1994

Look no further.

