

Having a strong network of people praying for her recovery, Mary feels truly blessed to have had the strong support and love during her diagnosis and treatment. "My sister-in-law gave me an angel to take along to my chemotherapy treatments," she said. She participates in the race as a reminder of how blessed she is to have her health, to honor those who are still fighting and remember those who cannot. Even after many years, her supportive husband still sends roses every year on the anniversary of her diagnosis—one rose for each year—and counting!!
