

Jeanette Pederson

Jeanette's favorite quote says it all: "Good morning! This is God. I will be handling all of your problems today. I will not need your help so relax and have a great day!" Jeanette credits her great attitude to hugs from her two sons and the support of her husband, Reid, and her parents. Today, she participates in the Avera Race Against Breast Cancer because it's fun, validating, invigorating and special. Her advice to other survivors? Talk to someone who understands what the journey is like and can offer insight on the little details.

SURVIVOR SINCE 2009

Look no further.

