

Theresa Gordon

From listening to soothing music and enjoying the breathtaking colors of the rainbow, it comes to no surprise that Theresa chose to swim with dolphins on her fifth survivor anniversary. After her mother was diagnosed with breast cancer in 1996, she began to do self exams; which is how she discovered her tumor. "Early detection saved my life." Today, an advocate for regular check-ups and self exams, Theresa also helps spread the word through events like the Avera Race Against Breast Cancer. "I am excited to be part of something that raises both money and awareness. What a wonderful way to support the cause."
